Unit Two: Digraphs & Trigraphs

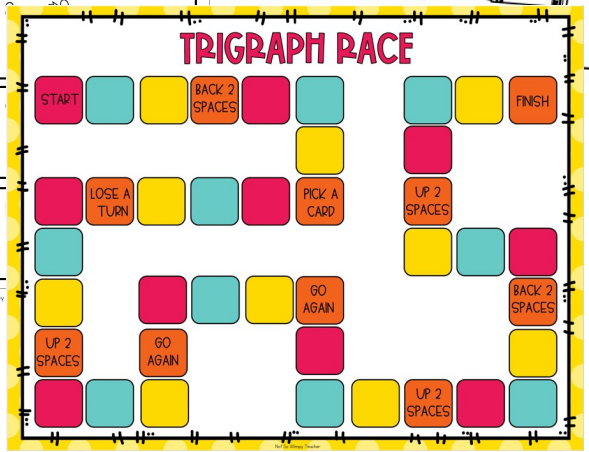

This unit includes ll ready-to-teach lessons with explicit instruction that builds genuine digraph-vs-blend understanding, teaching the "new sound" patterns (sh, th, ch, wh, ng) and the "known sound, new spelling" patterns (ck, tch, dge, ph) as two distinct skills, with built in explicit discrimination practice most units skip entirely.

Teachers can easily teach whole-group or small-group lessons, track progress, and use screener-aligned data to target student needs.

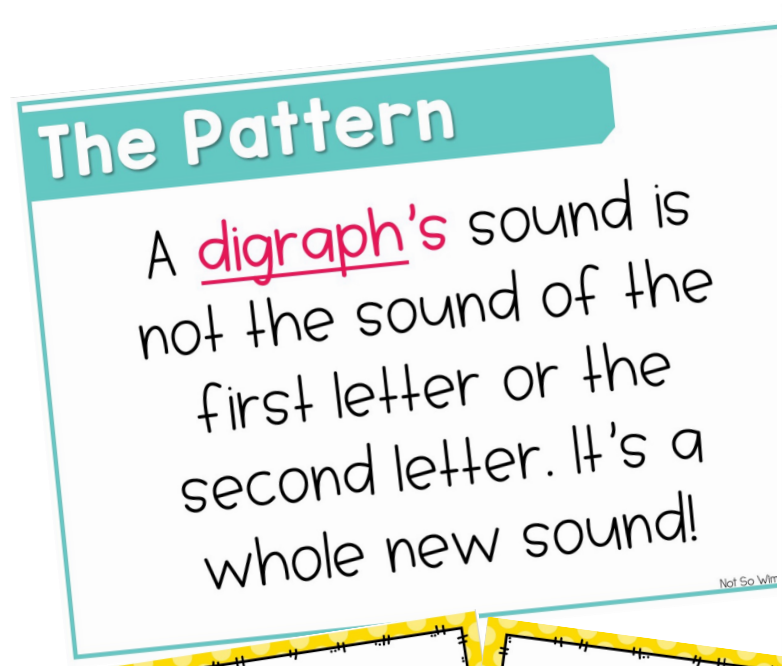

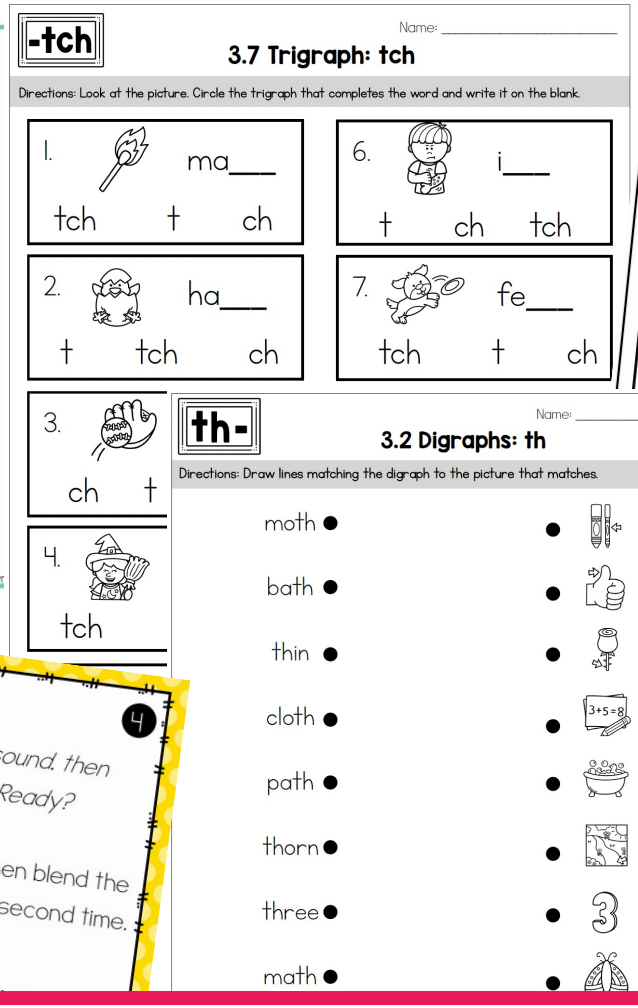

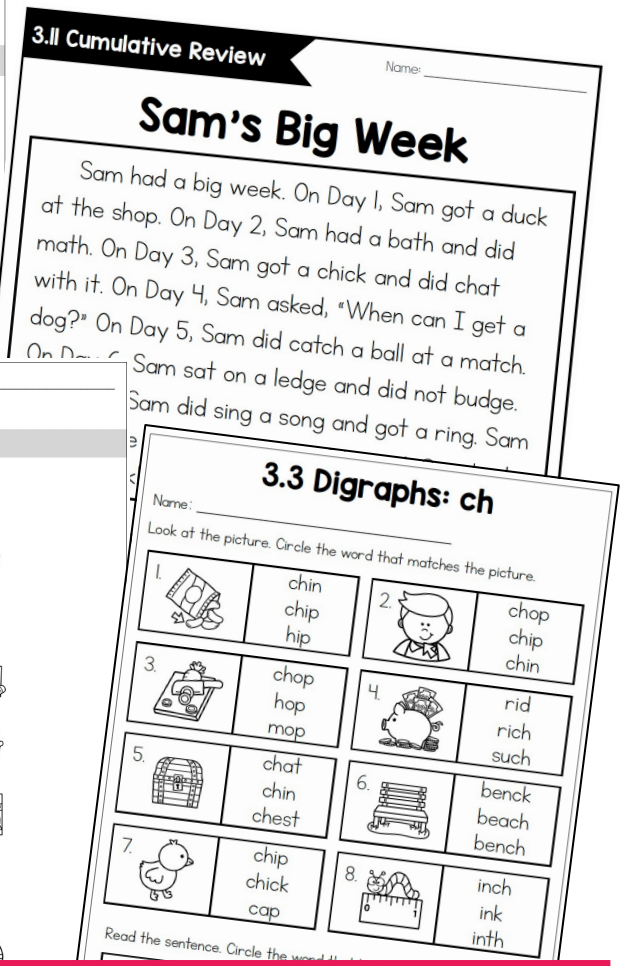

Comprehensive Lessons

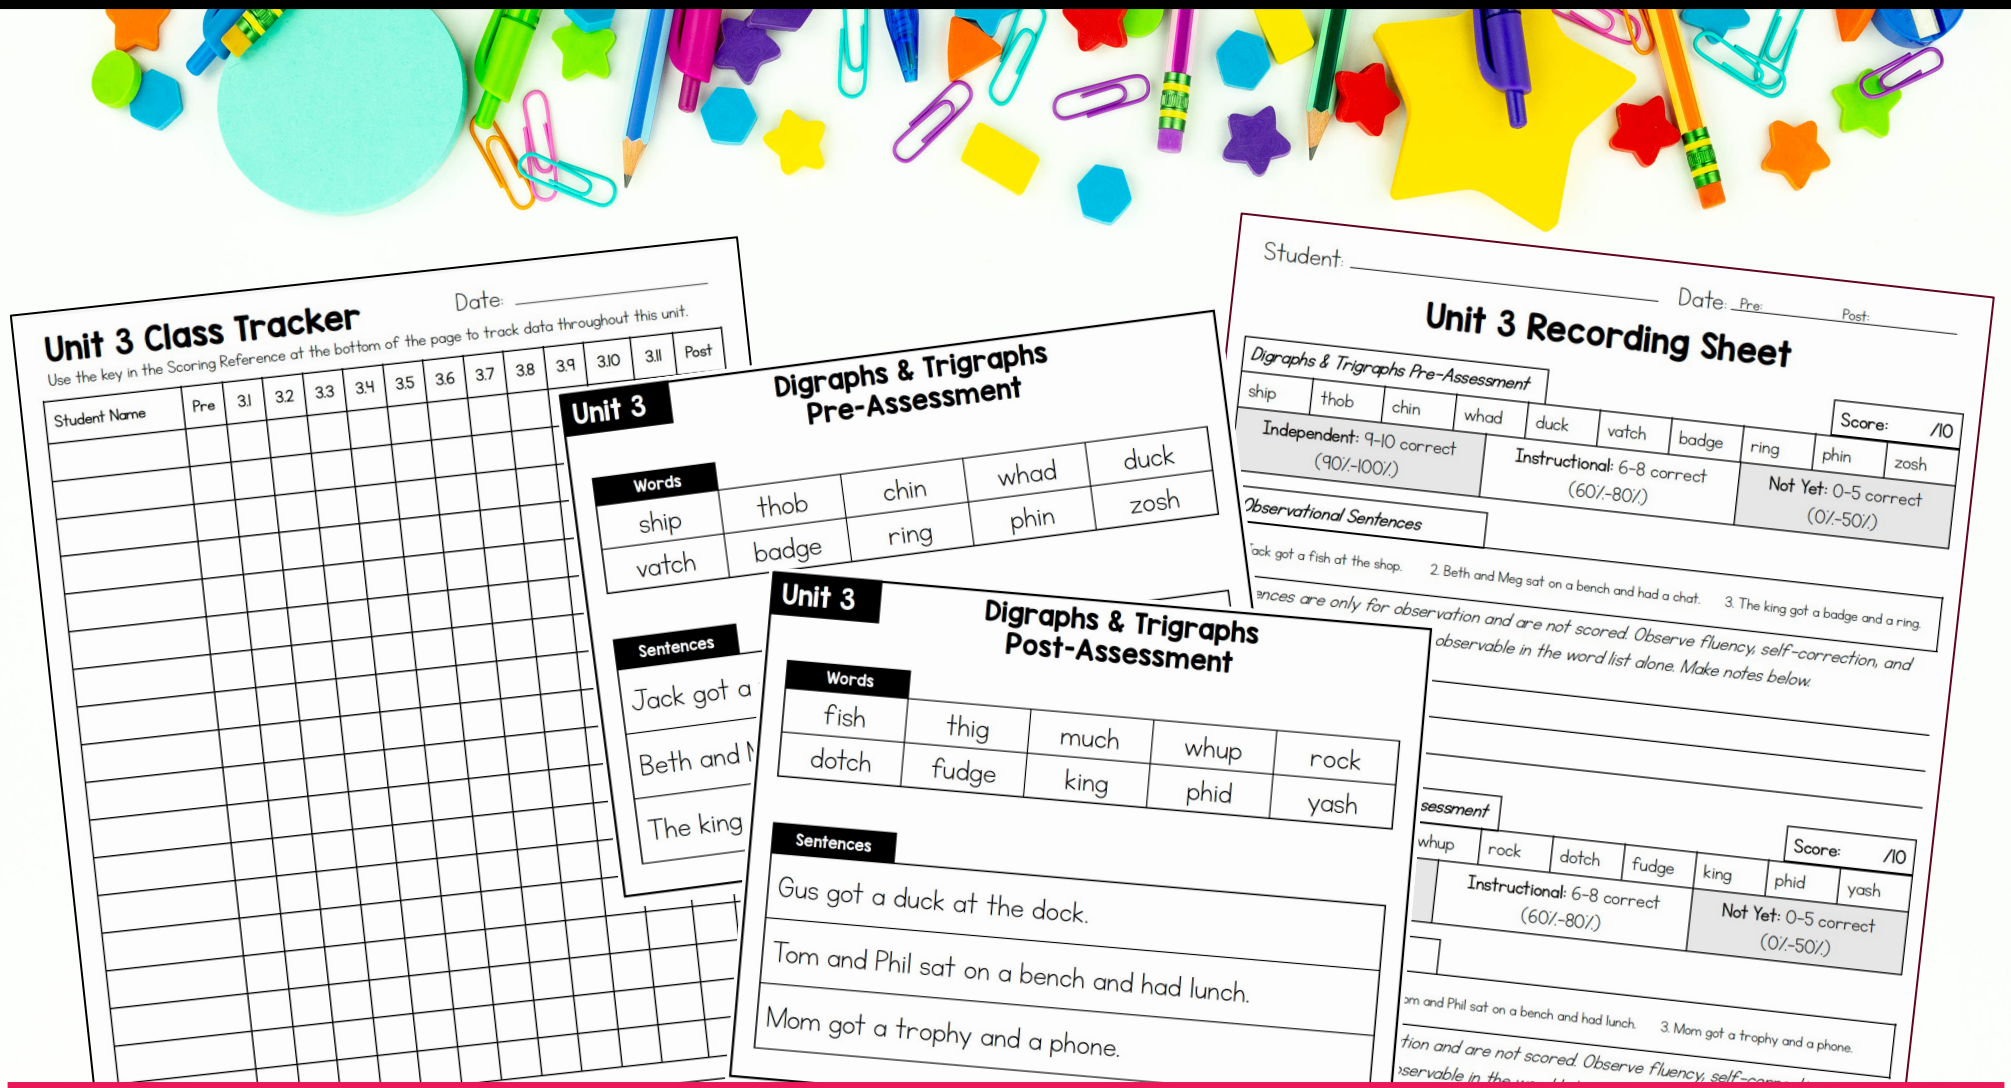

Comprehensive phonics lessons include instructional whole-group PowerPoints, small-group practice cards, decodable texts, exit tickets, anchor charts, independent practice activities, and games.

Track Student Progress

Track student progress and growth with pre- and post-assessments, a class data tracker, and easy-to-use progress-monitoring tools.
